Description: The location is characterised by the early morning sun and the Mendel Mountains to the west. This ensures an earlier sunset and the development of fresh draughts. The grapes are vinified 60% in steel barrels and 40% in new oak barrels. The young wine remains on the fine lees until February, which are kept in suspension by gentle stirring to give the wine additional complexity. The excellent location and the special vinification process result in a fresh, fruity, elegant Chardonnay with slightly exotic notes.

Recommended with: As an aperitif, with starters, fish dishes, mussels and poultry.

Serving temperature: 10° - 13°C
